

Re-create the famous. Pay homage to the masters using SketchUp.

Here are some examples of famous art works.

Here is an example of the Norman Rockwell girl waiting. Recreate using SketchUp.

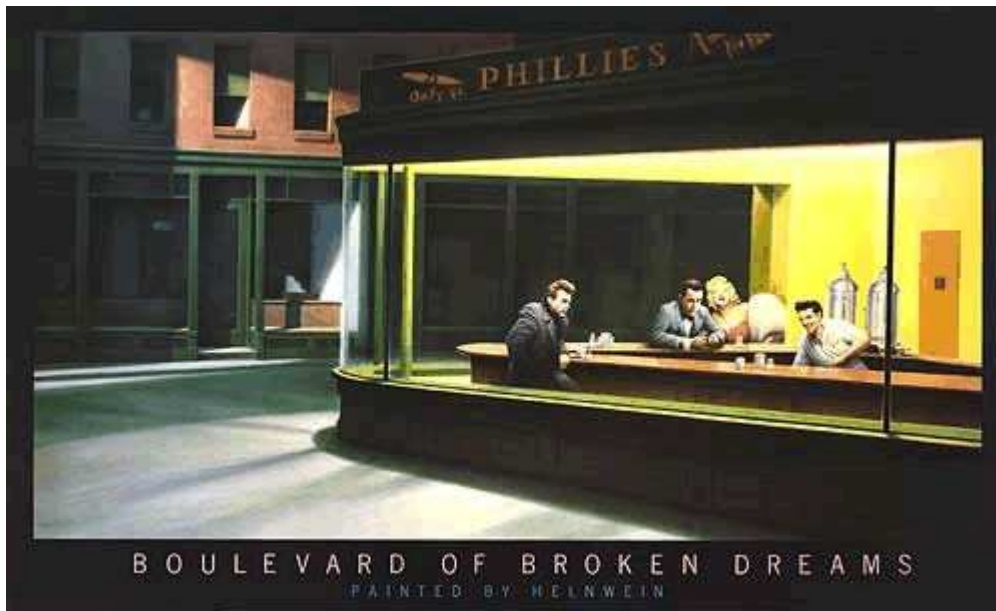

As you can see I don't expect you to find exact items from the components, just representative ones.

You could also have a little fun with it and put your own spin on a famous art piece – not unlike this example

The original is Nighthawks by Edward Hopper. It is Hopper's most famous painting. It is also one of the most recognizable paintings of the 20th century. It has inspired many homages and parodies.

The most popular homage may be the Gottfried Helnwein print Boulevard of Broken Dreams.

Have fun with this assignment. Use components or create your own objects.

Select 4 of the famous pieces above and recreate them. Be sure to save the SketchUp file and export the proper view as a jpg from the file menu for submission.
